There are other places that might profitably follow the good example that Charlotte has set.

—Our Chester neighbors are making extensive preparations for the entertainment of the veterans, sons of veterans, sponsors and other visitors expected to attend the division reunion in that city on July 28th, 29th and 30th. The arrangements are in the hands of a competent, wide awake and hustling committee, and they propose to spare neither labor nor expense in giving their guests a good time. The indications are that about 5,000 visitors will be in Chester during the reunion, but ample provision will be made for the comfort and entertainment.

—The owners of dry and parched up farms and gardens in and around Winnsboro watched the clouds most anxiously Tuesday and Wednesday, but the promises of rain were not fulfilled. Light showers of rain fell Tuesday but not enough to lay the dust well. It has been raining all around us, but Winnsboro and the immediately adjacent country seems to be entirely outside of the rain belt. There is an old saying to the effect that if rain falls on the 4th of July there will be rain within sight for the following forty days. We need rain but we could get along with perhaps a little less than forty days of it.

A Word to Doctors

We have the highest regard for the medical profession. Our preparations are no. sold for the purpose of antagonizing them, but rather as an aid. We lay it down as an established truth that internal remedies are positively injurious to expectant mothers. The distress and discomforts experienced during the months preceding childbirth can be alleviated only by external treatment—by applying a liniment that softens and relaxes the overstrained muscles. We make and sell such a liniment, combining the ingredients in a manner hitherto unknown, and call it

Mother's Friend

We know that in thousands of cases it has proved more than a blessing to expectant mothers. It overcomes morning sickness. It relieves the sense of tightness. Headaches cease, and danger from Swollen, Hard and Rising Breasts is avoided. Labor itself is shortened and short of most of the pain. We know that many doctors recommend it, and we know that multitudes of women go to the drug stores and buy it because they are sure their physicians have no objections. We ask a trial—just a fair test. There is no possible chance of injury being the result, because Mother's Friend is scientifically compounded. It is sold at a bottle, and should be used during most of the period of gestation, although great relief is experienced if used only a short time before childbirth. Send for our illustrated book about Mother's Friend.

A SO-CALLED DEGENERATE POET.

William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., has brought down upon himself the wrath of the expansionist organs generally, and particularly the New York Journal by the publication of the following. Time, Aginaldo, is the common fate of all who seek, in Freedom's holy name, Deliverance from foreign yokes and laws.

Against a foe of overwhelming weight Thou hast great compeers of an earlier date, Toussaint, Bazaris, Kosciuszko, men Misunderstood, misnamed, defeated, then, Immortalized among the brave and great.

Take heart and comfort if thy soul be sad. Not lost nor wasted thy heroic stand: Thou hast unmasked a nation falsely clad.

GIVE US MORE LIGHT.

We are thoroughly aware of the fact that the town council hasn't at its disposal “money to burn,” but some scheme ought to be devised by which we can secure better lighted streets.

On Sunday evening a NEWS AND HERALD man was in the northern part of town, and except for an occasional faint gleam of light from an open door or window of the dwellings along the street he could see nothing to relieve the intense darkness. There was not a lighted street lamp between Fairfield Street, on which the A. R. P. Church is located and the Fortune Park road. There are some side streets where except on moonlight nights the gloom is just as deep.

Wheelmen are not disposed to kick about the ordinance that requires them to carry lanterns, because they realize perfectly the wisdom of it, but pedestrians are very much inclined to protest against a condition of things that renders it necessary for them to carry lamps or torches as a matter of personal safety.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

The 4th of July, the one hundred and twenty-third anniversary of the birth of this republic, was celebrated in a very mild way in Winnsboro. There was no ringing of bells, no booming of cannon, nor did the small boys take advantage of the privilege usually accorded them of setting off fire crackers galore. The bank and postoffice officials were given a holiday, but no other places of business closed.

There was quite a crowd of colored people in town, attracted probably by the game of base ball played in the afternoon between the Winnsboro and Gladden's Grove. The game was called at 4 p. m., and proceeded smoothly through the sixth inning.

At this stage of the game, however, the official score was obliged to leave to catch a train. An attempt was made to provide a substitute but the dusky ball tossers from Gladden's Grove were not satisfied with any of the selections made and refused to play to a finish. When the game was called the score stood 15 to 14 in favor of the visitors.

The Gladden's Grove brass band, colored, came down for the day and during the forenoon paraded through town, rendering most artistically, Marching Through Georgia, Yankee Doodle, Peek-a-bow-A Hot Time, and many other new and choice selections. It was about the warmest aggregation of musicians that has struck this town in many a day, “long may she wave” at Gladden's Grove.

A MODERN HIGHWAYMAN.

Sam Brown, colored, is now serving a sentence on the county chain gang, having been convicted of carrying a concealed weapon. When he has served his time for this offense he will be made to appear before the trial justice here to answer a charge of highway robbery. Brown's troubles commenced when he met Sam Robertson in Winnsboro last Saturday afternoon. Brown mentioned to Robertson that he had a “small bottle,” (whether it was cold or not is not recorded) and proposed that they seek some secluded nook down West Washington Street and take a “bail.”

Robertson seemed pleased at the prospect and off they went. After walking a short distance from Main Street Brown asked Robertson if he could change a dollar. Robertson replied that he had ninety-five cents in change and a silver nickel with a hole in it, and opened his pocket book to prove his statement. Robertson had the change, but he had in addition several large, bright silver dollars. Brown saw the coin, liked the color of it, and was promptly carried away by a consuming thirst for sordid gain. He pulled his pistol, demanded of Robertson the purse and all of the wealth it contained, and got it without a struggle. The victim came back at once and reported the case to the police and in a short time the bold highwayman was languishing in a prison cell.

The above is the story told by Robertson, and the result of a search of the prisoner's person goes far toward establishing its truth. Brown was sent up by the mayor to the magistrate's court, where he drew a sentence of thirty days on the chain gang for carrying a concealed, deadly weapon. He will be tried for highway robbery at the expiration of the time he is now serving. At the hearing before the mayor, that official suggested to Robertson that by making some show of fight or resistance he might have prevented the robbery, and avoided the delay attendant upon the recovery of the money through process of law. Robertson intimated, however, that the pistol of thirty-two calibre, seemed magnified to the proportions of a six inch rapid fire gun, and he thought it more prudent to respond to the demands (about which there was a suggestion of high-handedness) his assailant.

A TRAGEDY OF THE RAIL.

Noah Wilson Instantly Killed by the North-bound Passenger Train Sunday.

Noah W. Wilson, a young white man who has been employed for some time in the Fairfield Cotton Mills, was struck and instantly killed by the north-bound passenger train on the Southern Railway, at 6:45 Sunday evening.

The horrible accident occurred near the head of the siding switch, a short distance north of the water tank.

Wilson and a Mr. Grey were walking along the track between the rails and as the train approached, Grey sought a place of safety on the switch which runs off to the left and Wilson started down the embankment to the right or east side of the track. Had he remained there he would, of course, not have been killed, but obeying an impulse to join his friend on the other side, he attempted to cross the track when the engine was scarcely a rail's length away. Wilson evidently lost his footing and stumbled or became confused by a realization of danger, and did not succeed in clearing the track before the engine struck him.

He was killed instantly, his body being tossed up several feet, and thrown over to the east side of the track. The top of his skull was cut out, and one of his arms broken, but the body was not otherwise mangled.

Magistrate T. M. Cathcart, acting as coroner, had a jury summoned as soon as he was notified of the killing, and proceeded with the inquest. The jury rendered a verdict at 1 o'clock Monday morning, the substance of which is as follows: “Noah W. Wilson came by his death as the result of being struck by a locomotive engine at Winnsboro, S. C., while said engine was running over the track of the Southern Railway Company. That when the killing occurred the engine was being run at a rate of speed beyond that allowed by a municipal ordinance.”

The verdict refers to the removal of the body from the scene of the killing to the baggage room of the passenger depot. The verdict was signed by the following jurors: J. E. Coan, foreman; W. K. McCarty, R. G. Miller, J. R. Dewett, J. B. Stevenson, A. Sims, John Hawes, J. O. Boag, R. V. Gant, D. B. Dickens, J. R. Beard, M. B. Beatty, T. B. Hutchinson, John M. Smith.

Wilson was about twenty-six years of age, and a native of Lexington County. He was a steady and industrious workman and enjoyed the thorough confidence of his employers and associates. He leaves a wife and two children. The remains were taken to Lexington, his old home, Monday for interment.

MYRTLE NEWS.

The approximate estimation of the cotton crop of this section is very low. The outlook is very discouraging. In the beginning the stand was very poor, and the drought coming on caused another drawback, which it has never recovered from. The corn prospect is more promising. Very little early corn was planted, but most of what was is looking very well. The showers are very appropriate on it now.

A great deal of stubble land has been planted in peas, and some in corn, which looks as good as could be expected. Seed peas seem to be very scarce.

The dull times were partly broken on the night of the 4th by a very highly enjoyable entertainment given at the residence of Mr. M. L. Cooper.

The guests were pleasantly entertained, but too soon at least for some, as generally the case when pleasure is the ruling motive, the time for our departure was at hand, which was reluctantly but very joyously taken.

The occasion will be remembered long as another band to our social union. Mr. J. Glenn Cooper has accepted a position with the firm of Lipscomb & Smith, of Ridgeway. We regret to acknowledge the loss of such a popular member of our social circle.

Mr. W. A. Davis, who has been engaged in truck farming in Central Fla., is visiting his sister, Mrs. E. H. Hogan.

Miss Effie Cooper, of Ridgeway, is visiting her cousin, Miss Belle Davis. Miss May Smith is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. A. Heins.

Miss Nannie McDonald spent last week at her aunt's, Mrs. W. B. Hogan.

Mrs. L. A. Hogan and family, of Ridgeway, is visiting relatives in this section.

Miss Lula Cooper, of Ridgeway, after spending some time at “Eastview,” the residence of her uncle, Mr. M. L. Cooper, returned home to-day.

Mrs. Fullwood is visiting relatives near Blythehood.

Best wishes to NEWS AND HERALD. July 8, '99. Dixie.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

“Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the late General Barnham, of Mchias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning,” writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. “All thought she must soon die from Pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of Consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her.” This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at McMaster Co.'s drug store.

MOSSY DALE ITEMS.

I attended a fish fry and picnic on Broad River a few weeks ago, given by Miss Sallie McMeekin's school. There were in the neighborhood of eight hundred fish caught and as a result we had both fry and stew in abundance, besides a fine layout of other good things on the table. All parties did full justice and left no grounds for complaint. It was a very pleasant time spent by all present.

Children's day was held at Bethel Church on Saturday last. There was quite a crowd in attendance who represented a large section of the county. The usual program was gone through with by the Sunday School and the children acquitted themselves with honor, after which the crowd retired to the grove and partook of a bountiful repast with plenty of good hash, which we consider one of the essentials, especially in a scarce time, for you will recollect chickens are not ripe in this section yet.

We have been visited with some good showers for the past week, which has freshened up things considerably. Corn as a rule will be very low, but has a good color, and it is hoped will ear better than once expected. Cotton is considerably behind the average, both in its maturity and size. Crops generally in good fix as to work; there has been a considerable quantity of cow peas sown, both for forage and fertilizing purposes. Gardens are the poorest I have ever seen for the time of year—no cabbage, and beans are blooming themselves almost to death but not putting on any fruit. It is the same old fare, bread and meat and meat and bread. Melons are beginning to bear now. I enjoyed one to-day for the first. It ate all right but was not enough of it.

What has become of the election of field officers for the U. C. V.? There was a convention called at Ridgeway on the third Wednesday last month for the purpose, but I have not seen any account of the proceedings. What has become of the rap of the Sons of Confederate Veterans which was organized in Winnsboro a year or more ago? Come, come, wake up from your sleep and keep pace with your sister counties. Why should old Fairfield be behind others? It is certainly not for the want of descendants of old Confederates.

Mr. T. C. Camak has repaired his house and outbuildings, which adds materially to their general appearance. I also learn that he is prospecting in low country. He is very anxious to procure some property in that section which will be in his judgment more conducive to his welfare as a planter and otherwise. T. B. M.

OUR CHARLOTTE LETTER.

Interesting News Items from Across the Line.

Charlotte, N. C., June 6.—We have a new city council.

They have started at that end of the line for reform. About a month ago they passed an ordinance making it a misdemeanor to spit on the sidewalk, punishing all violators with a fine of $5.00. Two weeks afterwards the fine was increased to $10. The law went into effect July 1st and already the sidewalks present a more decent appearance. The law was designed as much as a health measure as for decency and our city fathers deserve the thanks of the whole community. Now it is either spit in the gutter or not at all.

BLACKSTOCK BUDGETS.

The “Glorious Fourth” was celebrated in our little town very enthusiastically, especially among the colored people. It is true we never had any bands of music or odd fellow parades, as we have been having heretofore, but our streets were crowded all day. Two or three little incidents of excitement were stirred up during the day. Chief of police W. H. Mackrell arrested a negro named Anti for making some little fuss on the streets and was taking him to the guard house, when suddenly the negro made a dart and escaped. The chief shot at him several times but Anti made good his escape, jumping over fences
